MAXIMILIAN AND THE POPE.—The Paris Memorial Diplomatique announces that the Emperor Maximilian has addressed an autograph letter to the Pope, in which he lays before Pius IX. the imperative necessity which compelled him to adopt the measure alluded to in his communication to his Minister of Justice as to the conversion of church property into certain hands. The young Emperor's arguments are couched in terms of the most profound respect, yet, true to Hapsburg blood, he does not yield one iota of his prerogative as sovereign, and tells his Holiness that the state of affairs in the interior of Mexico and the urgent necessity of constituting without loss of time the [illegible] over whom he had been called to reign, demanded the measure he had adopted, and which he had not the slightest intention of retracting.

In the course of some conversation in relation to dogs, Gov. Anderson, of Ohio, related a Texan practice of training dogs with sheep. "The pup is taken from the mother before its eyes are opened, and put with a ewe to suckle. After a few times, the ewe becomes reconciled to the pup, which follows her like a lamb, grows up and remains with the flock, and no wolf, man or strange dog can come near the sheep, and the dog will bring the flock to the fold regularly at half-past seven o'clock, if you habitually feed him at that hour."

General Scott made quite a sensation a few evenings ago, by appearing at a theatre for the first time in over twenty years. The veteran is in excellent health and seems capable of enduring not a small amount of fatigue. As a compliment to his presence (which was to see Booth's "Hamlet,") the "Star-Spangled Banner" was played by the band after the first act, and the General was compelled to come forward and acknowledge the enthusiastic greetings of the immense audience.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 4, 1865.

Richmond is Taken.

The wires bring us at last the welcome news that Richmond is captured, and we have no reason to doubt the authenticity of the intelligence. The wires have been working badly for some time, and to-day only remained up long enough to let the dispatch we publish reach California. It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of the event. Grant has struck the momentous blow at the moment when it would tell the most effectually. Sherman is marching northward with his trained battalions and is invincible, but it needed that Grant should at this moment attack and take Richmond to set the seal to his own now imperishable fame, and to most effectually paralyze and destroy the power at this moment when it needs the prestige of some success to give it life for the last struggle and the encounter at the last ditch.

Richmond is ours! That word carries the assurance of peace soon to be achieved, and the rout and ruin of Lee's army was almost necessary to atone to the world for the profanation that Richmond and rebellion have cast upon the name of American liberty by words and acts.

A Lame Comparison.

From the first the Southern leaders have claimed to be animated by the same pure patriotism, and high sentiment which actuated the fathers of the nation in their early struggles for liberty. They have indeed well established the fact that men can fight in a bad cause; but that does not satisfy the world that their cause is just, or reconcile their claim to the noble title of patriots, as they would desire. Let us institute the parallel and try them by the comparison they invite.

The colonies were in their infancy, when, contrary to all the promises made them, and despite their own remonstrances, seconded by the voices of many of the most liberal and influential minds in England, that country endeavored to enforce taxation by force of arms. It was then a question of being taxed by English laws without representation in the English Parliament, and yielding to the persuasive logic of British bayonets, or to nobly resist and demand privileges which King George III. was not ready to concede. Afterwards, as the revolution progressed, and war became inaugurated throughout the land, the Declaration of Independence was adopted by Congress, and most heartily ratified by the people. It was not strange that such men, animated by such impulses, achieved that independence and that the nation so planted grew and prospered, until its name became the synonym for liberty. Through that seven years of war they rose to freedom, and the historic names of that early time became immortal.

With all our nation had to recommend it, one crime was still born with it, or rather was perpetrated by it. Slavery was permitted—or at least was not restricted—by our Constitution, and the seed was planted that has ripened into civil war. The Southern States inherited their full amount of bravery and independence; the tropic sun also lent them the character, in some degree, that pertains to warmer climes. They grew and prospered with the rest—even more than the rest, considering the severe drawback that slavery was to their success. Will any one claim to institute a parallel between their condition at the breaking out of the rebellion and the condition of the Colonies when they threw off the English yoke? Will any one claim that they were taxed and oppressed? Such claims would be absurd, and will not be made. South Carolina had no ills to claim our sympathy or deserve our justice. She was rich, prosperous, full to repletion of the luxuries and comforts of life, and all she lacked was the inestimable privilege of having her own way.

Southern politicians love power; and partly by management, and in part by force of native talent, they have swayed the destinies of the State almost from the first. Southern statesmen have ever been pre-eminent in places and power, but the time came when the Northern mind asserted itself, and the freemen of the nation rose in their might and showed to Southern statesmen and to all the world that free labor would not consent to longer share the freshly opening fields of the nation's domain with slavery. Then slavery rebelled in spirit, and Southern statesmen, cultivating the antagonism that was only natural between opposite classes and opposing grades of civilizations, precipitated a war that had for its intention the re-establishment of slavery upon a firmer basis. Where is there any parallel between the early patriots who pledged their lives and their sacred honors to make their country free, and the rebel hordes who, in the name of independence, have perpetrated every infamy to destroy that country; who would overturn the nationality their fathers planted and the liberties they watered with their blood, to perpetuate an institution they at heart condemned but left for us to eradicate.

Slavery totters to its fall, without a single mourning voice through the vast area of christendom to chant its requiem. Thousands of brave men North and South have fallen that its funeral pyre might boast more victims. To-day the thunders of war continuously roar around Richmond and Petersburg, and the indomitable spirit of Grant and his legions shows itself by storming and carrying every obstacle, while the columns of Sherman and his multitude of veterans come to aid them from the South almost unhindered. The verdict of the future is secured, that slavery is a tremendous crime against nature and that the present rebellion is the criminal act of its infatuated adherents.

Gold Fluctuations.—The Cincinnati Gazette publishes the following comparative statement, showing the price of gold during the three years past, which will prove interesting to those who study national finance, and will be valuable to preserve as a reference:

During the month of January, 1865, gold varied from 226 to about 200, at about which point it remained nearly stationary. During March it steadily declined, being quoted as low as 146, but remaining between 150 and 161, where it still is by latest quotation, and at which point it seems inclined to stay, as the prices of general merchandise have gone down to suit that figure.

Henry Wilson, United States Senator from Massachusetts, after nine years in political life, can show but his small dwelling at Natick and $700 in cash, as the sum of his possessions.

RICHMOND OURS AT LAST!!

Great Battle Raging Before Richmond and Petersburg; three Day's Fighting.

Last night General [illegible] [illegible]

The battle now rages furiously. Sheridan with his cavalry [illegible] [illegible] from the west. [illegible]

Grant [illegible] has been going on for three days [illegible] the force on both sides [illegible] valor.

This is all we have received thus far, but it is sufficient to show that all goes well.

Signed, RANKIN.

New York, Feb. 28 [illegible]

Richmond Captured with all the Enemy's Cannon, and Many Thousand Prisoners.

San Francisco, April [illegible]—The following telegram was received this afternoon:

Salt Lake, April [illegible] The dispatch arrived at San Francisco [illegible]

To Gen. H. W. Carpentier: The telegraphic operator at [illegible] says: Richmond is taken, Petersburg evacuated, and all the cannon and many thousand prisoners are captured.

(Signed) CLOWES,
Telegraphic operator at Salt Lake.

Foreign.

New York, March 21.—The Herald's London correspondent states that within a couple of years the Prince Imperial of France is to make a visit to the United States and make a tour of the country. He will be attended by a splendid fleet and two or three Ministers of State, and move about with brilliancy. The Opinion Nationale, Napoleon's organ, commends Sherman's operations and tactics in the highest degree, and accuses the rebels of having fired Charleston. It adds, they have never been anything but rebels against a just Government, having for their watchword slaves and slavery.

Mexican Affairs.

New York, March 21.—Mexican advices, via Havana, contradict the reported defection of Cortinas from the Imperial cause. He was still devoted to Maximilian, and engaged in suppressing guerillas.

The troubles between the Emperor and the Church party do not abate. The Pope is said to have remonstrated against the imperial order, decreeing liberty of religious opinion.

California News.

San Francisco, April 3.—The city is very jubilant. Bonfires, music, etc., are the order of the evening. The news is not confirmed yet, as the line was in working order but a few minutes before it broke down.

The Golden Age took $551,881 treasure.

A boy named Thos. [illegible] Byrnes, was run over and killed by a wood cart, on Saturday afternoon.

The Court of Inquiry in O'Byrne's case met to-day. The Rev. [illegible] Demones, Catholic Bishop, testified that O'Byrnes induced him to endorse his note for $300, representing that he had money coming from England. The Bishop testifies that he endorsed the note without reading it and subsequently found it was for $500 instead of $300 as represented, and that he was finally obliged to pay it together with about $200 interest. Richard Newby, Manager of the Commercial Bank of India, testified that in September, 1863, O'Byrne represented himself as one of the editors of the Alta and produced letters purporting to be from William L. Boyd, merchant in England, authorizing O'Byrne to draw for $550, which draft Newby cashed and forwarded to England, where it was dishonored and returned to be protested, accompanied by letter denying he had ever given O'Byrne any written or verbal authority. Sheriff Davis and H. C. McDonald, bookkeeper for J. B. Painter, corroborated Painter's testimony that O'Byrne had collected money due on a collection in Painter's possession. Adjourned.

Judge Hoffman to-day sentenced William Ross, Boatswain of the Great Republic, to six months' imprisonment in the County Jail, his term of service to commence from the 15th day of February last.

The Savage and Gould & Curry Mining Companies to-day declared dividends of seventy-five dollars per foot each.

Owen Mulef, who accidentally shot his brother's wife, has been surrendered to the military to be court-martialed, as the idea prevails among the relatives of the deceased that the shooting was not purely accidental.

In this morning's Board heavy sales of greenbacks were made as follows: $5,000 at 60 cts.; $10,000 at 60 cts., seller 10 days; $20,000 at 61 cts., seller 60 days; [illegible] Legal Tender Notes at 59½ cts., seller 15 days; $5,000, 59[illegible], seller [illegible] days; $30,000, 60, seller 9 days; $25,000, 61[illegible]; $15,000, 61[illegible]; [illegible]; $5,000, 61[illegible], buyer 30 days. They held at about 60½ this afternoon, until the news of the reported capture of Richmond, when they jumped to 64 each, with sales at these figures, many holders asking [illegible] for them.

Flour, there is rather more movement to-day and the market is quoted firm. Sales, 800 qr sks, Chili, at $13 50 [illegible] bbl, and 600 qr sacks extra Santa Clara, at [illegible]. In addition, we note a fair jobbing trade in [illegible] City Mills. [illegible] we quote at [illegible]. Oats are firm, sales of 600 sks Oregon at $2 90 [illegible]; 500 sks Bay, $2 7[illegible]; Barley, 800 sks, [illegible]; Hay, $19 [illegible] ton.

Arrived, the bark [illegible], 153 days from Malaga.

Gold was quoted on the 28th and 29th at [illegible]. On the 1st inst. it opened at 151.

Murderous Rebels.—The Eugene Review quotes with great unction the words of the anonymous letter, spoken of at the late trial, and which was supposed to have been written by Beale one year ago, professing to furnish [illegible] Delany, and saying it is no more harm to kill rebels here than in the States. The Review tries to make a [illegible] out of this; so we will give him the last we have heard of Beale's sayings. Mr. [illegible] of Marion county, a Democrat, saw him in jail a few days after his sentence, and heard him damn the abolitionists, and prophesy that they would certainly ruin the country. We don't put much value on Beale's politics, and no one before was ever mean enough to mention them as the Review has [illegible]. One thing is certain, what view he entertains has not entered into his trial, and the prosecuting attorney remarked as severely on this idea of killing secesh as no harm, as the Review could have desired.

The New York [illegible] says: "Bierstadt has lately finished one of the noblest works which he has ever [illegible]. It is, moreover, one of the results of his visits to the Far West. The huge canvas is devoted to a view of Mount Hood, in Oregon [illegible] [illegible] the height of Mount Washington. [illegible] [illegible] Bierstadt [illegible] [illegible] the engraver."

Speaker Colfax has sold his interest in the South Bend Register, which he founded twenty years ago, and has successfully [illegible]. The last number contains his [illegible] [illegible] printer's boy to his present high position [illegible] shows what may be accomplished by industry and talent perpetually directed.

[illegible] Indian Battle [illegible] [illegible] Los Angeles [illegible] [illegible] Department of New Mexico.

From Mr. White [illegible] [illegible] New Mexico and Arizona [illegible] [illegible] New Mexico [illegible] [illegible]

Major McCleave, [illegible] [illegible] following morning while in camp, by a large body of Indians. The fight [illegible] [illegible] after [illegible] hours of obstinate fighting, Col. Carson, at the head of [illegible] men, having heard the firing, hastened to the [illegible] and coming suddenly upon the rear of the Indians, while they with their lances were making furious charges and upon the point of overpowering the troops under Maj. McCleave, relieved McCleave's command from the overwhelming numbers and heavy assault of the Indians [illegible]

The battle continued until night, the Indians being heavily reinforced during the day. At night the Indians withdrew to a [illegible], whence they were again reinforced by large numbers. [illegible] Indians were reported to have been left on the field, besides a large number of wounded. Among the dead left on the field by the Indians were discovered about thirty white men with their faces painted to disguise them as Indians. The number of Indians engaged in the fight was about 3,000 at the commencement of the battle, which number was increased by the subsequent reinforcements which arrived during the day and night to 10,000 or 12,000. They consisted of Camanches, Le Pans, Kiowas and some other tribes. It is believed that this large number of Indians had been concentrated at points convenient to the battle field and a small portion of them thrown out to the neighborhood of Major McCleave's detachment to lure him into the rendezvous, where they could overpower and destroy his command. This they would undoubtedly have accomplished had it not been for the timely arrival of Col. Carson and Gen. Blunt on the battle field.

No official report of this battle had been received at [illegible] or at the posts in Arizona, but it was received from so many sources that it was not doubted.

Davis' Liberality.—The citizens of Richmond have been holding a meeting upon the subject of peace negotiations, at which Governor Smith and Jeff. Davis attended and made speeches. Davis' speech was very [illegible] in its sentiment. Nothing save independence should ever receive his sanction. "Sooner than be united again, he would be willing to yield up all he has on earth, and, if it were possible, would sacrifice thousands of lives before he would succumb." This is exceedingly liberal in Davis. It almost approaches Artemus Ward in the sublimity of its sacrifice. Artemus, in the height of his patriotic fervor, has publicly expressed his willingness to allow all his wife's able bodied male relatives to be drafted for the war. Davis will as willingly sacrifice thousands of other people's lives to enable him to maintain the authority he has usurped, and which has been source of so much evil and suffering to the people. But as Artemus' wife's relatives might not see the magnanimity of his offering them to the Moloch of war, so the people of the South may not desire to imperil their lives, and what is equally dear, their liberty, to gratify Davis' pride of power or the ambitious schemes of his confederates. When the Richmond journals talk of hanging submissionists to lamp-posts and deserters to be shot like wild beasts, it is very evident that there are a large number of persons in the South, who would prefer closing the war now rather than sacrifice their lives uselessly in trying to accomplish impossibilities.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Washington correspondent says:

A distinguished gentleman from Illinois, who figured somewhat extensively in the recent peace movement, tells of an interview the Hon. Aleck. Long had with the President. After a pleasant chat, and as they were about to leave, Mr. Long undertook to express his personal good will for the President, and assured him that what he had said of him in his speech last winter was only concerning his political deeds. The President thanked him for his kind feelings, and said he couldn't express his feelings better than by telling of a story told by a distinguished politician of his State, Judge Edwards, who, in an exciting political campaign, held discussions with his opponent. After the campaign had ended, the Judge's opponent explained to him that all the harsh things he had said of him were not personal at all, but that he had been obliged to use them in discussions, to make the best of them. The Judge thanked him for his explanation, but assured him that he was ignorant that anything had had ever been said of him. Mr. Long was crushed, but says that the President, in the bigness of his heart, came to the rescue in this wise: "Now, Mr. Long," said Abraham, "I do not apply this story to you literally, but I say that both my friends and enemies on the hill say a great many things of me, both good and bad, but I really don't believe them."

Migration to the Far West.—A letter in a Western paper, dated Waverly, Missouri, January 11th, says:

Nearly every family in the town and surrounding country are making preparations to leave in the spring—some for Idaho, some for Nevada, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, and California. Many farms will be abandoned and many homes vacated. We are still infested with robbers. Almost every night some farmer loses his money, clothing or horses. It will be worse next summer and bushwhacking will be terrible as bad as it has ever been. There will be no possibility for a quiet man to live here. One side or the other will kill him or rob him. There will be no market here for anything next summer, owing to the scarcity of the population.

THE SAME OLD GREENBACK CASE.

I AM STILL COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF LEGAL TENDER NOTES AT PAR. I have been since Dec. 17, 1862, [illegible] store, corner of [illegible] streets. I feel compelled to announce to the public the following facts, that leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the leases were CASH. Since the abovenamed date I have received the deposit of currency regularly, and a protest for the rent of the

JACOB MAYER

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and hence were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such cruel advantage of the times to evade a few dollars, as sheltered by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants.

THE PARTITION SUIT.—The case of William Gilliham, by his guardian, Marion Gilliham, vs. the heirs of Daniel H. Lownsdale, S. N. Arrigoni and about seventy others was up for hearing at the special term of the Circuit Court, Judge E. D. Shattuck presiding, which adjourned on Saturday last. As the case is a matter involving much valuable property in our city, and one of general interest to the public, we give the decree of the Court in full:

"This cause having been heretofore heard at this term of the Court, upon the complaint, answers, [illegible] and exhibits, the several parties appearing by their attorneys [illegible] ... and whereas the said ... Lownsdale ... [illegible] ... as the basis of valuation to be in U. S. legal tender notes, and also an estimate to be made ... and both valuations to be returned. In case of surveys the referees will notify the attorneys of the parties by written notice, two days before such survey."

OIL.—As parties are becoming greatly interested in oil in these regions, we give below a synopsis of the "Munchausen, Philosopher's Stone and Gall Creek grand consolidated Oil Company," to guide their action in the formation of incorporations on this coast. A stockholder has kindly furnished us with a "Prospectus." The capital stock is represented to be $1,000,000,000, in 1,000 shares of $1,000,000,000 each. Working capital $900,000,037 50. In this Company dividends are declared semi-daily (Sundays excepted.) It is an immense thing. A shaft has been sunk on a portion of Territory under lease by the Company, with the following result:

Struck as follows:

XXX Ale, [illegible]

Cooking Butter.

Cod Liver Oil.

Billy Patterson.

A Quartz Lead

For Higher Wages.

Oil.

A Leak.

[This shaft is 3,000 feet deep.]

Prospectus sent by mail on receipt of price by the 100 or 1000, address box 1[illegible], Pittsburg, Pa.

OREGON WINTER WEATHER.—We have been furnished with the following record of the weather, during the past five months, which have been the most inclement known for many a winter. This corresponds with the weekly meteorological tables, published in the OREGONIAN during most of that time, which have also been furnished by Mast. O. N. Larrabee:

	CLEAR.	CLOUDY.	FAIR.	RAINY.	FOGGY.
November	14		[illegible]	11	2
December	16	4	[illegible]	7	5
January	17		[illegible]	9	1
February	17		[illegible]	[illegible]
March	4	11	[illegible]	11
	67	15	10	45	8

Summary.—67 entirely clear days; 15 cloudy days; 16 fair with some clouds; 45 rainy; 8 foggy.

TREASURE.—Messenger Conn arrived from the Dalles last evening, bringing a large express from points east of the mountains, and some six or seven hundred pounds of gold and silver. The steamship which sailed last evening, took $135,000, shipped by parties as follows: Wells, Fargo & Co. $100,000; Ladd & Tilton $35,000.

PEACE! PEACE!—In anticipation of an early termination of the rebellion and a consequent return of peace and happiness to the country, Messrs. Kohn & Fishel have just opened, at the St. Louis Store, No. 96 Front street, in this city, a large and well selected stock of dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, etc., where they expect to be able to accomodate all who may honor them with their patronage.

SCHOOL MEETING.—The annual school meeting District No. 1 was held at the school house last evening. W. S. Ladd, Esq., was chosen director for three years, vice S. J. McCormick, whose term of office expired. The Clerk of the last year was re-elected. The Clerk and Directors made an elaborate report, which was ordered printed.

SALE OF THE MACADAMIZED ROAD.—Sheriff Stitzel will sell at the Court House in this city, to-morrow, the Macadamized Road, leading to Milwaukie, together with the rock crusher, teams, steam-ferry boat Milwaukie, &c., on a judgment of the Circuit Court, given in favor of Ladd & Tilton, in February.

A SAW MILL FOR OAK LUMBER AND PINE.—A party of gentlemen whose names we have mislaid and do not remember, have associated themselves together for the purpose of making lumber in the pine and oak forests west of this city. The site of the mill is but six miles from the western terminus of the city, and their machinery &c., will soon be upon the ground.

ACCIDENT IN SAN FRANCISCO.—By private telegram from San Francisco Saturday, we learn of a fatal accident to the son of Thomas E. Byrnes, Esq., of this city, now in San Francisco. The boy was run over in the street by a dray and killed. No particulars of the casualty have been received.

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Christian Commission will be held at the vestry of the Presbyterian Church, this (Tuesday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock.
M. H. HOLBROOK, President.

SALE.—The stock and fixtures of the Identical Saloon, on Stark street, will be sold at auction by A. B. Richardson to-day. A fine assay office is to take the place of the Identical in that locality, hence this sale.

GONE EAST.—Brig. Gen. Alvord and his aids, Lieutenants Hopkins and Sanborn, left on the Sierra Nevada for Washington City, under orders from the War Department.

An artesian well in Dalton, Massachusetts, discharges four hundred and fifty gallons per minute, or six hundred and [illegible] eight thousand gallons a day, and the water was obtained at the depth of only seventy-six feet. This leads every other artesian well in the world the nearest approach being one in Chicago, which discharges seven hundred and seventy six thousand gallons per day.

Columbians No. 3.—Regular meeting this Tuesday evening at 7½ o'clock.
A. ZIEBER, Sec'y.

Washington Guard, Attention! Regular Monthly Meeting this (Tuesday) evening at [illegible]
ED. F. [illegible], Sec'y.

Vig. H. & L. Co. No. 1.—Regular Monthly Meeting this (Tuesday) evening at [illegible] o'clock.
J. COHEN, Sec'y.

A SKETCH OF HISTORY.—The departure of Rev. George H. Atkinson for the East per steamer Sierra Nevada last evening, affords a fitting occasion for the appearance in our columns of a sketch not less interesting ... Rev. Mr. Atkinson was the earliest representative of the ... [illegible] ... He had designed to ... as long ago as 1846 ... to relinquish that undertaking, however ... [illegible] ... comparatively unknown region. Communication between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts being far from frequent, he was compelled to wait from January to October, 1847, before he could procure a passage in a vessel from Boston to the Hawaiian Islands, en route to Oregon, ... another detention awaiting a vessel he arrived on the Columbia river and landed at Fort Vancouver, June 20th, 1848. Two days afterward he stepped ashore in Portland, where he found but three houses, and two or three temporary structures, one of which answered the purpose of a store, and was last year torn down to make room for the splendid three story fire proof block of J. B. Parrish & Co., opposite this office. Repairing to Oregon City he entered immediately and energetically upon his work, and, co-operating with the few other congregational ministers in Oregon, before the end of 1848 had assisted in organizing the "Oregon Association" and the "Oregon Tract Society." In September of the same year, he assisted in commencing the institution now known as the Pacific University, at Forest Grove, and in 1851, while on a visit to the East, succeeded in securing its acceptance and patronage by the American Collegiate Society, ranking then the ninth on the list in the prospective course of endowment. The importance of this enterprise can scarcely be over estimated in the future of our young and still measurably dependent State. The occasion above referred to is the only visit our Home Missionary Pioneer has ever made to his New England youthful home, and while there obtained recognition as a delegate from "far off Oregon" in the World's Congregational Convention, holding its session at Albany, New York. We might add much in commendation of the character and labors of this worthy minister, of his devotion to his work, and the consistent energy which has won for him the highest respect and esteem. No cause of ... virtue, temperance or patriotism but ever finds in him an efficient champion. Serving twice since his residence in Oregon as County Superintendent of Common Schools, he has ever manifested an earnest practical interest in the cause of popular education as a basis of the highest moral condition of society. He will be sadly missed during his absence, but will doubtless accomplish much for our State while at the East. We join our fellow citizens generally in wishing him and his a safe, pleasant and prosperous journey and a speedy return to his chosen vineyard.

Car fare in Washington is the only cheap thing in the place. You can ride from one end of the city to the other, and get a transfer to go across town, for five cents.

FOUL BREATH.—Among all the disagreeable consequences that follow fast the decay of the teeth, an impure breath must be the most unpleasant and mortifying to its possessor, as it is the most inexcusable and offensive in society. How often its possessor experiences a distant coldness shown even from the best of friends, or perhaps the one most fondly cherished, from their source. You are ignorant of the cause yourself, the subject is so delicate—your most intimate friend will not mention it. Why not remove this one great barrier to your health, beauty and happiness, at once, by using that justly popular Dentifrice, Fragrant SOZODONT, the most convenient, pleasant and efficacious gem for the toilet the world has ever produced.
Sold by Druggists everywhere at 75 cents per bottle. ap11d&w

AMONG THE WONDERS OF THE WORLD IS THE WHEELER & WILSON Family Sewing Machine; and a great wonder it is that any sane person will have any other while these are to be had. They make happy wives, happy daughters and happy husbands, and home all that is desirable. Buy one and try it.
E. G. RANDALL, Agent.

The Great Flag.

A Lady of this city having one of our Fire Companies a United States Flag, ordered the same from San Francisco, and by mistake described it 35 by 25 yards, instead of feet. The great flag arrived here, but it was so large that there is no flag-staff to hold it, therefore it is returned to San Francisco to be exchanged for one of the size that can be placed where the Fire Company may please to raise the same, as a present from the lady.

HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences, as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAN COUGHING!

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup!

WHAT KILLED HIM!

Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

Matrimony.

A couple sat beside the fire,
Debating which should first retire.
The husband sportively bid said,
"Wife, you should go and warm the bed."
"I never will," she quick replied;
"I did so once, and nearly died."
"And I will not," rejoined the spouse,
With bitter tone and lowering brows.
And thus a war of words arose,
Continuing till they nearly froze,
When both grew mute—and lowering nigher,
Around the faintly glimmering fire,
They trembled o'er the dying embers,
As though the ague had seized their members,
Resolved, like heroes ne'er to yield,
But force each other from the field.
And thus this once hard loving pair,
In silence shook and shivered there,
Till every spark of fire was gone
And cocks were crowing for the dawn.
When all at once the husband said,
"Wife, hadn't we better go to bed?"

INCIDENTS OF THE WAR.—Richard Wilcox, late Acting Master's Mate, U. S. N., now at the Navy Yard, in Philadelphia, writes:

"From time to time, since the outbreak of the rebellion, I have read in your valuable journal instances of suffering and hair-breadth escapes from rebellion by different persons whose lot was cast in the South previous to the war, and who stood up for their country previous to their escape. Without wishing to make myself particularly conspicuous, I am happy to say I have been fortunate enough to be one of the above class. I say fortunate, as I was where I could render a good service to the country in time of need. Some ten years previous to the rebellion and the time of the surrender of the Pensacola Navy Yard to the rebels and their occupation of it, Jan. 12, 1861, I was watchman of the yard. On its occupation by the rebels I was compelled to continue my vocation much against my will. I was a Northerner by birth, and it was revolting to my feelings to serve under any other flag than that of my country. But a short time elapsed after the occupation of the Navy Yard when I secretly crossed over to Fort Pickens, then commanded by Lieut. A. J. Slemmer. I had an interview with him, and told him the situation I was placed in and wished him to take me into the fort. He replied that as I had a family, I had better stay where I was; I could do more for my country there than in coming with him; I could aid him, too, if I willed. I replied, "I will do it, and all my communications will be signed, 'A Friend of the Union.'" I communicated with the fort in this way—a way the rebels would have made a short way for me if they had caught me at it; Lieut. Slemmer was allowed the privilege of sending over every day a flag of truce boat for his daily mail. This boat was manned by a portion of his command in charge of a non-commissioned officer. A watchman of the yard was required to conduct and take charge of said non-commissioned officer on his way to the Post Office (outside of the yard) and back to the boat.

Thus, a watchman of the yard and a friend of the Union I was always on hand to offer my services. This correspondence continued from January 25th till April 11th, 1861. On the 10th of April 1861, I discovered that a correspondence was going on between a Sergeant of Marines in Fort Pickens, of Lieut. Slemmer's command, and two prominent rebel citizens, Robert L. Sweetman and Boyakin Williams were the parties of the other part, under the direction of General Bragg, then commanding the rebel forces at Pensacola. The Sergeant was to receive $50,000 and a commission in the Confederate service, and he was to be on guard with what picked men he could bring over to his side. At midnight on the 11th the Sergeant was to suffer a thousand rebels to surprise the fort, and thus make prisoners of Lieut. Slemmer and his gallant command. On the morning of the 11th of April, 1861, I waited anxiously for the flag-of-truce boat to come over from the fort, and as soon as it did arrive I took charge of the non-commissioned officer, and conducted him, as was usual, to the then commandant of the yard, Duncan L. Ingraham for permission to go outside of the yard and procure the mail for the commander at Fort Pickens. After receiving the necessary permission, the commander took me one side, and said to me: "Now, Wilcox, be very careful with your charge to-day. Let no person communicate with him." "All right," says I to the commandant. This caution on the part of the commandant fully confirmed my suspicions, but before I got out of the Navy Yard, and while files of rebel officers and soldiers were passing me, I asked the non-commissioned officer to inform Lt. Slemmer to prepare for the worst, and to reinforce the fort; as two thousand rebels would cross that night, at twelve o'clock, to surprise the fort, and that one of his own Sergeants was in the plot and in communication with two rebel citizens of Warrington.

At late dusk that evening the United States steamer Wyandotte (then a flag of truce boat) returned from Pensacola, where she had been sent to return some runaway slaves, who had taken refuge in Fort Pickens. While passing the fort she was hailed and immediately went outside and fired six guns. Signals were then made from the fort to the fleet, and the fort was lit up, and our troops were landed and the fort was fully reinforced, and thus Fort Pickens, which "was equal to Fort Sumter," was saved from the rebels. At nine o'clock that night two thousand rebels passed my door on their way from their camps to the Navy Yard, preparatory to crossing. But that order never came. The two rebel citizens went out in boats and reconnoitered. They found Santa Rosa beach lined with Union troops, and thus General Bragg abandoned the expedition. After that night all communication was cut off from Fort Pickens, and my occupation was gone; and as I could not further serve my country there, I looked around for means to escape and make my way North, which I did, leaving my family and all I possessed, and arrived at Norfolk in safety and without suspicion. But I found myself prevented from going further North, and was finally compelled to enter the rebel service. I was fortunately stationed on Craney Island, near Norfolk. After eleven months on this island, without mentioning all the troubles and privations I endured, I finally made my escape on the evacuation of Norfolk by the rebels, on the 8th of May, 1862. A few days after, on looking over a file of the New York Herald, I discovered the whereabouts of Major A. J. Slemmer. I immediately addressed him a letter, advising him of my locality, and as soon as was practicable I received a letter acknowledging services rendered.

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 19th of February last a fire occurred in our [illegible] which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in the fire, we noticed McKenzie & Heads just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND's make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully
Your obedient servants,
